

Making Your Own Code

Write the alphabet in any order on the bottom bars, then cut both parts out. By doing this you will then make a code which can only be cracked by the person holding both parts. Write your code using the top piece as the letter and the bottom as the letter you write. To decode find the letter on the bottom, and write down the letter on the top.
This code system is a useful way of sending a code as only those who have an exact copy of the bottom piece of paper will be able to crack the code.
